and bibliographical notes. A select and annotated bibliography and lists of topical readings are prefaced to the work and will be of use to both teachers and students. Among the mistakes and printers' errors noted by the reviewer the following seem most important: Litchfield (p. 65) for Lichfield, Stewarts (p. 157) for Stuarts, Cheney (pp. 184, 186) for Cheyney. In general appearance and make-up the book is attractive, and is provided with a serviceable index.

Documentary Source Book of American History, 1606-1898. Edited with notes by William MacDonald, Professor of History in Brown University. (New York, The Macmillan Company, 1908, pp. xii, 616.) This volume, as indicated by the preface, has been prepared in order to meet the requests of teachers for documents suitable "for courses of instruction of an elementary or comprehensive character, or which cover both the colonial and the constitutional periods of American history in a single year". By condensation and the omission of certain provisions, the selections constitute about two-thirds of those to be found in Select Charters, Select Documents and Select Statutes. While it is probable that no two persons would agree upon what should be included in a single-volume "Documentary Source Book", it must be acknowledged that this one does contain, in general, the fundamental charters and statutes. The Constitution of the United States, however, is easily accessible and the space assigned it might well have been devoted to three documents included in Select Charters not so available for class use; namely, Albany Plan of Union; Virginia Resolutions of March 12, 1773; and Petition to the King, July 8, 1775.

The suggestive introductory notes of the earlier volumes have been retained with slight changes. Professor MacDonald has performed a real service for the teachers of history by bringing together in a single convenient volume this kind of supplementary material.
